

Yards and Yards of Y's

The yellow yarn yanked with yearning on young Yonnie's hair, so Yonnie yelped and yelled, "Yikes!" and "Yow!"

The yarn kept yanking, and Yonnie kept yipping.

Years passed, yet the yarn and Yonnie were still yoked.

Yonnie no longer yelped, but yawned, for she was used to the yellow yarn yanking.

Yesterday, Yonnie yelled to the yarn, "You, yellow yarn! Yes, you! You used to yank and I used to yelp. Now you yank, and I yawn."

Yearly the yarn yanks and Yonnie yawns uselessly.