Girl (13-15) History Class

History is by far my favorite class. No, it's not 'cause I think George Washington is fascinating or anything. It's because my teacher, Mr. Henry Hunter is so hunky! For real, he should be in the movies. I'm glad he's not, or I wouldn't get to see him five days a week!

At first, I was like "Why is such a gorgeous man teaching such a geeky subject?" But then I saw that he really is like totally excited by it. It's like a real passion for him. I have to say that that makes it a lot more interesting for us. But enough about boring old history. Lets talk about hunky Hunter!

Starting with with his eyes. The color of emeralds, with little gold flecks like sunbursts. I tend to stay after class to ask questions, just so I can chat with him a little. He is usually clean shaven, but he's been growing out his beard the last two weeks. I'd have to say its totally a Shawn Connery look, mature and oh so sexy!

He must work out like all the time, 'cause his arms are so big. He wore a shirt sleeve shirt yesterday, and I almost fainted when I saw him. Yum! His hair is so perfect all the time, too. I love how it falls so gently on his face. I bet he uses conditioner everyday!

He's got this deep voice. I could listen to him talk all day long. Sometimes, I catch myself looking at his angel smile, so bright. Oh, I could just die! If I were just a few years older, I'd go after him so fast. He's such a smartie! Cute, smart, nice, and funny! Did I mention he's funny too? Yeah, he has the class laughing everyday. A real riot, Mr. Hunter is! I just know we'd be perfect for each other. I wonder if he has a girlfriend.
