
BOOKSTORES

Knowledge equals power, and you need all the power you can get when trying to make it in show business! Since knowledge is what you need, the easiest way to get it is to read any of the books (and there are hundreds) that are published every year about how to make it in the entertainment business. You made a good choice deciding to buy this one!

If you're short on cash, visit the library, especially those in large metropolitan cities such as Los Angeles, New York, Miami and Chicago, which carry plenty of entertainment books.

Where can I find books on Hollywood?

In Los Angeles, many of the books, trades and directories below can be purchased at the Samuel French Bookstore which has two locations: West Hollywood and Studio City. This is an excellent place to begin doing research and start building your own library of books and directories. You can find books about agents, casting directors, producers, photographers, theatres and much more. Most published plays and scripts can be purchased here—well for learning monologues and finding scenes for acting class.

In Los Angeles

- Samuel French: 7623 Sunset Boulevard, Hollywood, CA 90046 (323) 876-0570
11963 Ventura Boulevard, Studio City, CA 91603 (818) 762-0535
- Book Soup: 8818 Sunset Boulevard, L.A. 90069 (310) 659-3110

In New York City:

- Samuel French: 45 West 25th Street, NY, NY 10010 (212) 206-8990

In Chicago:

- Act I Book Shop: 2540 North Lincoln, Chicago 60614 (773) 348-6757